

In Vain

In vain we rise and fall from grace and wear out our wits on this uneven stage Alas, before we learn our lines in full the curtain falls and the footlights into the darkness fade